KOLTITRACE

MIS FARMCLOUD

KoltiTrace FarmCloud is a mobile application to support all producer's needs, from instant access to high-quality agri-inputs, safe digital transactions, receiving ePayments from collectors, interacting with agri-input suppliers, to helping producers get capital to support their farm development.

Here's how FarmCloud can help improve producers' quality of life:

Access to training materials, from the agronomists and field agents in Koltiva.

Access to finance, trusted access to capital.

Access to larger market, connecting producers to suppliers, buyers, and agri-input shops.

"Backed by agronomists and field agents, FarmCloud offers digital advisory services spanning from upstream to downstream, connecting all integrated ecosystems in Koltiva, including agriculture, finance, and larger markets."

FarmCloud's Benefits for Producers

Easy Access to High-Quality Agri-Inputs

Connecting producers with certified agri-input suppliers. Interacting with registered agri-input suppliers is made easy with SMS and phone call features.

Safe Digital Transaction for Producers

Experience the convenience of easily carrying out digital transactions, from paying electricity bills, buying phone credits and mobile data, receiving ePayments, and buying agri-inputs with KoltiPay, available in FarmCloud.

Integrated with KoltiPay

KoltiPay is available in FarmCloud

Profit from the transaction goes into the producer's bank account directly.

Split payment method using cash and bank transfer.

Transaction history can be accessed anytime on FarmCloud.

Agriculture Calendar

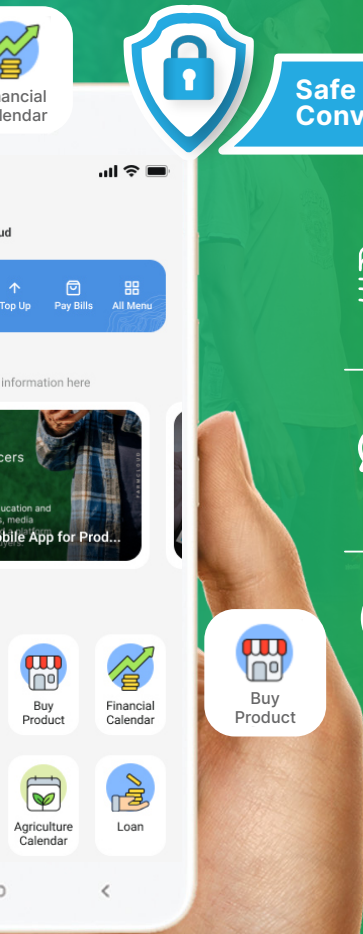

Easing Access to Capital

Easy digital finance and access to capital for producers, enabling them to develop their land.

Access to Digital Market

Producers are connected to the nearest collectors, helping them to sell their crops through bank transfers and split payments.

Safe Transaction Convenient Payment

Save the transaction profit without going to the bank. Half of the profit can be received in cash.

Supported by Koltiva's customer service, we are here to help solve any challenges our customers may face.
